ABSTRACT

The Target Cities Projects coordinate a variety of local services available to substance abusers and their families. As part of these cooperative agreements, Head Start agencies are linked to substance abuse treatment agencies to provide cross-training, cross referral, and, eventually, joint case management of client families. Part of this broader context is the Assessment, Referral and Training Project (ART) which is evaluated in this report. The three goals of the ART project included: (1) cross-referrals to substance abuse treatment by Head Start staff and referrals to Head Start by substance abuse treatment staff; (2) cross-training in which Head Start staff taught treatment staff about critical aspects of early childhood development that can be affected by substance abuse; and (3) joint case management of client families by substance abuse treatment staff, Head Start staff, and other agencies. The program evaluators gathered data during on-site visits through structured and unstructured interviews and a review of documents, curriculum materials, student work, and other records, and concluded that the program objectives were achieved. The appendixes include records of presentations made to individuals and/or groups; referrals among Head Start sites and drug and alcohol treatment programs; and a narrative description of a real case study using fictitious names to insure confidentiality. Los Angeles County Office of Education Head Start Grantee Assessment, Referral and Training (ART) Project

Administration on Children, Youth and Families Substance Abuse Initiative Grant Number 90-CD-0831

October 1, 1991 through September 30, 1994

Introduction to the Program

The Los Angeles County Office of Education's Head Start Grantee's Assessment, Referral and Training (ART) Project is part of the larger Los Angeles Target Cities Project of the Los Angeles County Department of Health Services, Alcohol and Drug Program Administration, Grant #U88TI0004. The Los Angeles Target Cities Project is one of seven Target Cities nationally, originally funded through the Office of Treatment Improvement, later re-named the Center for Substance Abuse Treatment. The Target Cities Projects coordinate a variety of local services available to substance abusers and their families. As part of these cooperative agreements, Head Start agencies are linked to substance abuse treatment agencies to provide cross-training, cross-referral and eventually, joint case management of client families.

ART Project Goals

The three goals of the ART Project included:

- Cross-referrals to substance abuse treatment by Head Start staff and referrals to Head Start by substance abuse treatment staff.
- Cross-training in which Head Start staff taught treatment staff about critical aspects of early childhood development that can be affected by substance abuse. Treatment staff trained Head Start staff in background and critical issues regarding substance abuse as it can relate to Head Start families. Training included instruction in classroom strategies for working with children who may have been perinatally exposed to substances, or where substance abuse is occurring in the current environment. Classroom strategies focused on intervention.
- Joint case management of client families by substance abuse treatment staff, Head Start staff and other agencies as appropriate.

Linkages

The ART Project Target Cities/Head Start linkages paired Head Start sites and treatment agencies in Los Angeles County as follows:

East Los Angeles

Plaza de la Raza Head Start and Behavioral Health Services Lincoln Heights Family Recovery Center

South Central Los Angeles

Kedren Community Health Center Head Start and the Watts Health Foundation

South Bay

Volunteers of America Parent Child Center and the South Bay Community Resource Center of Joint Efforts, Inc.

Focused Acknowledgments

Special thanks to Susan Weber of the Head Start bureau in Washington, D.C., for her untiring efforts to integrate substance abuse intervention into the ongoing Head Start program for families with young children. Mrs. Weber planned and implemented a series of trainings for project coordinators from each of the seven national Target Cities/Head Start linkages, as well as nine capacity-building projects in the area of substance abuse from across the country. This sharing and coordination resulted in a national network of Head Start staff with experience in collaborations between substance abuse treatment providers and head Start.

The ART project was coordinated for the Los Angeles County Office of Education's Head Start Grantee by Roberta Savage Brzozowski, who also coordinated the Los Angeles County Office of Education's program for perinatally substance-exposed children and, later in the project, coordinated the Drug, Alcohol and Tobacco Education programs for three Educational Programs Divisions within the Los Angeles County Office of Education. Mrs. Brzozowski provided coordination and support to the Head Start project teachers and coordinated with the larger Target Cities Project staff as well as with the individual substance abuse treatment agencies.

Andrew Kennedy, Senior Project Director for the Los Angeles County Office of Education's Head Start Grantee contributed through his outstanding leadership as well as his support and belief in this program as part of Head Start's commitment to families.

Special thanks to Head Start manager, Frank Lorah whose guidance and fiscal expertise facilitated the smooth operation of the project over the three-year period.

Vital to the success of the ART project were two project teachers, Cristina Roman, of the Plaza de la Raza Head Start agency, and Jaya Sastri and Bitu Ghafoori, who filled this critical position for the Volunteers of America Parent-Child Center during different periods throughout the duration of this three-year project. Mrs. Roman-Fickewirth, Mrs. Ghafoori, and Mrs. Sastri's skill and dedication as well as their ability to work effectively with a variety of staff, agencies' rules and procedures were critical to the success of this project. Mrs. Roman-Fickewirth, Mrs. Ghafoori, and Mrs. Sastri exceeded the expectations of the role of project teacher by expanding the referral networks of their agencies to include substance abuse and local health and social service agencies beyond the agencies participating in the Target Cities Projects. In addition, Mrs. Kathy Jackson and Marvene Washington of Kedren Head Start participated faithfully in ART Project activities, with the support of Kedren's executive director, Mr. Robert Owens.

The unquestionable success of the ART Project as reflected in the attached evaluation report attest to the commitment of key ART Project staff members as well as the strong support of their executive directors, Rosemarie Sims at Plaza de la Raza Head Start and Ray Hernandez of the Volunteers of America Parent-Child Center.

Related Projects

The ART Project was one of three substance abuse projects funded by the Administration for Children, Youth and Families. The other two projects were the capacity-building Substance Abuse Training and Referral (STAR) Project, Beverley Morgan-Sandoz, Project Coordinator, and the three Los Angeles Head Start Family Service Centers, Bill Stelzner, Project Manager. An ultimate goal of the ART project is to articulate with STAR and Family Service Center agencies to provide comprehensive training and referral services to all of the twenty-nine Head Start delegate agencies throughout Los Angeles County.

Major Media Outreach

The Los Angeles Target Cities ART Project was featured in a five-minute video news release by Ivanhoe Productions and syndicated for distribution to news networks as a "filler." The news release featured staff, parents and children from the ART Project in East Los Angeles and Harbor City. As a result of the airing of this news release, calls were received from across the nation requesting information about the project.

The effects of perinatal and environmental substance abuse were stressed in the video. ART Project staff described classroom strategies, interventions, and the importance of creating linkages between preschool service providers and substance abuse treatment agencies to assist young children and their families.

Dear Mrs. Weber,

We are pleased to submit the enclosed Final Report for Grant Number 90-CD-0831, for the Los Angeles Target Cities/Head Start Substance Abuse Initiative.

We appreciate your vision and support throughout this successful three-year project. You may find the materials in appendix "H" of special interest as a summary of this project from the point of view of parents and staff.

As you are aware, the project will continue through a restructuring process that will work directly through the Los Angeles County Office of Education Head Start Grantee. Part of the restructuring will include expansion in a larger number of delegate agencies. In addition, the three existing substance abuse projects will work together to assure successful restructuring to incorporate substance abuse intervention and prevention into the ongoing Head Start program.

We look forward to working with you and the Head Start Bureau on future projects to support Head Start children and families.

Sincerely,

Roberta Savage-Brzozowski
ART Project Liaison Coordinator

Ms. Roberta Savage-Brozowski
Project Liaison Coordinator
Assessment, Referral, and Retention (ART) Project

Dear Roberta:

Please find enclosed 60 copies of the Final Program Evaluation Report for the ART Project. Overall, one task was judged to be uncompleted and two more were finished a little later than expected. This frequently happens, especially during a multi-year project. If project success can be measured by the percentage of project tasks completed, the ART project did extremely well. Out of a total of 30 project tasks to be accomplished, 29 actually were completed by the date called for in the objective or shortly thereafter. The overall project task completion rate was 96.7% (29/30). This of course, is remarkably high.

This final report is divided into three main parts plus appendices:

- Part A-Final Evaluation, December 1994
- Part B-Interim Report, August/December 1993
- Part C-Evaluation Update, June 1993
- Appendices-very extensive.

I have enjoyed working with you and your ART special teachers, Bitu Gharfoori and Christina Roman-Fickewirth. Having completed the evaluation and having visited a number of head start and treatment sites, I have decided that this is a worthwhile project and I'm glad to know that it will be expanded and incorporated into Head Start.

Sincerely yours,

Assessment, Referral, and Training Project Final Program Evaluation Report 1991-1994

Section 1

INTRODUCTION TO THE PROJECT EVALUATION

Over the three years of the ART project only minor revisions, (e.g., objective 4.8) were made to the original evaluation plan which was itself based closely on the original grant application. Those revisions to evaluation plan objectives resulted in a better match between the way the objective was written, and what was reasonable to expect. Furthermore, care was taken to see to it that revised objectives continued to represent high quality. All revisions were submitted to the funding agency prior to becoming actual program evaluation statements.

Before proceeding to Sections 2 and 3 of this evaluation report, the evaluator wishes to especially thank Mrs. Roberta Savage-Brzozowski, the ART project liaison coordinator. Appreciation also goes to Mrs. Christina Roman-Fickewirth and Mrs. Bita Ghafoori, the two special teachers. For most of the secretarial work, appreciation goes to Mrs. Merlyn Madrigal, Dr. Kester's secretary. Other secretaries who helped are Vicki Bleazard and Rachel Hoo. In addition, Dr. Alice Healy-Sesno, consultant-in-charge, Evaluation, Health, and Pupil Services Unit, Division of Educational Support Services coordinated delivery of county evaluation services to the ART project. Also providing support were Dr. Nancy Krause, director, Division of Educational Support Services, and Dr. Gilberto Anzaldúa, assistant superintendent, Educational Support Services, Los Angeles County Office of Education.

Section 2

EVALUATOR'S OPINION REGARDING THE PROGRAM MANAGEMENT AND EVALUATION PLAN ELEMENTS

The evaluator agrees with the proposed evaluation instruments, data collection, data analysis, and data presentation procedures called for in the Program Management and Evaluation Plan, as revised, for the three years of program operation, 1991-1994.

Section 3

RESULTS OF THE EVALUATOR'S ON-SITE VISITS, DATA GATHERING, AND ANALYSES

The program evaluator made official on-site evaluation visits to the project liaison coordinator's office as well as to Head Start and treatment center sites on the following dates:

Table 1

Dates of ART Project Evaluator's Official On-Site Visits

March 24, 1992	April 6, 1994
May 21, 1992	April 12, 1994
June 23, 1992	June 2, 1994
October 23, 1992	August 24, 1994
March 1, 1993	October 19, 1994
June 10, 1993	October 28, 1994
June 11, 1993	December 9, 1994
June 17, 1993	December 16, 1994
September 17, 1993	December 19, 1994
October 6, 1993	December 22, 1994

During the official on-site visits noted above, the evaluator conducted structured and unstructured interviews, reviewed documents, curriculum materials, student work, and other records. He visited all project Head Start sites and all but one project treatment centers. An on-site visit was scheduled for the Watts Health Foundation, out-patient center, but an unscheduled event—the Los Angeles riot—occurred then.

Interviews with Head Start teachers and treatment center staffs were extensive and audio taped. A review of the transcripts showed that all were well informed about what was expected and had evidence to prove that project tasks related to their activities were being accomplished. Frequent interviews and data reporting from the two special teachers showed the same for project tasks assigned to them.

The data gathered during his on-site visits, plus that received by mail later, form the foundation on which the evaluator based his findings together with his conclusion as to whether or not each project objective in the evaluation plan was attained.

In retrospect, the ART project seems well planned, well managed and well documented.

Objective 2.4

(Application Reference Objective 1.5) By July 1992 the ART project liaison coordinator (PLC) will identify and hire qualified key staff and identify participating agencies. (Evidence: Minutes [kept by PLC], Advisory Committee will review, evaluator and PLC will draft letter to Susan Weber regarding evaluation and highlighting specific services and support provided by target cities to head start and their families including training, referrals, and counseling. [kept by PLC].)

The term, "key staff" refers to the two specially trained teachers who would work not only with head start teaching staff but also with parents and others. Fortunately, one of the specially trained teachers was able to serve through the entire project period. Unfortunately, the second specially trained teacher position suffered from staffing problems.

Vacancies were unfilled, first related to death, then by travel-related absence. A critical staff person died in March 1992. This resulted in a critical staffing situation for the small agency and delayed the hiring for the project. Once hired, the special teacher served for four months—until her husband was transferred to Michigan.

The PLC arranged coverage by dividing the assignment into two parts and assigning half to an educational coordinator and half to a special needs coordinator.

In addition, the liaison coordinator faced another set of difficulties. Written into the original grant was the expectation that two agencies—Volunteers of America (VOA) and Kedren Community Health Center would share (80%-20%) one specially trained teacher. This expectation turned out to be impossible to realize. And the realization took months to recognize.

Some of the problems encountered were:

- The two agencies had different work years, ten months for one, twelve months for the other,
- The two agencies had different benefits,
- The two agencies had different salaries,
- The two agencies had different calendars within the work year, and
- Finally, the two had very different coverage in the liability area, especially for workman's compensation.

After the project teacher left for Michigan, the position was left unfilled for six weeks until the decision to drop Kedren was reluctantly made. One reason it was reluctantly made was because Kedren is located in South-Central Los Angeles where the population is predominantly African American.

A second project teacher was hired by VOA on September 1, 1993, and she still continues to be the ART project teacher as of December 1994.

Despite facing difficulties which had to be overcome, the liaison coordinator did "identify and hire qualified key staff and did identify participating agencies." (See Appendix A, Items 1-4.)

Conclusion

This objective was attained.

Objective 2.5

(Application Reference Activity 3.2) By September 30, 1992, the PLC, head start staff, and agency staff will employ and orient specially trained teachers and/or assistant teachers for working with head start teaching staff. (Evidence: Agency or Board minutes, orientation schedule [kept by PLC].)

Orientation and training took place at a meeting held on March 25, 1992, at the Sheraton Norwalk Hotel. (See Appendix B, Item 1.) Because one specially trained teacher position was unfilled due to death, another orientation was held for the person hired into that position. The date of that later inservice was February 25, 1993. (See Appendix B, Item 2.)

Conclusion

This objective was attained.

Objective 3.4

By June 1994 the STAR Project staff, Family Service Center staff, and Target Cities staff will expand existing referral network to include STAR and Family Service Center sites. (Evidence: Minutes and agendas.)

Objective 5.0

By June 1994 the Target Cities staff, STAR Project staff, ART Project staff, and Family Service Center staff will participate in joint planning and implementation of staff development related to substance abuse and families with young children. (Evidence: Minutes, agendas, and programs.)

Two large, inclusive conferences were held. One was entitled, "S★ ART: Building Partnerships Toward Healthy Families and Communities." It was held in September 1992. (See Appendix C, Items 1-3.) The other one which was entitled, "Synergy, Systems, and Support for Children and Families Affected by Substance Abuse" was held in January 1994. (See Appendix C, Items 4 and 5.) In addition, within the larger "Leadership 2000, Reinventing America's Schools" Conference, a breakout session dealt with the "joint planning and implementation" called for in this objective. (See Appendix C, Item 6.)

Finally, there are minutes of an "ART/STAR/Family Service Center" meeting on July 25, 1994, and original "memos of understanding" between agencies. (See Appendix C, Items 7 and 8.) The memos of understanding show that agreements between agencies existed during this ART funded project. The meeting minutes from July 1994 show that the agencies continued to work together to plan for the future without external, categorical grant support for ART.

Conclusion

This objective was attained.

Objective 4.3

(Application Reference Activity 2.IV) By September 1992 the PLC, delegate agency directors, and Parent Involvement Coordinators Policy Council/Committees will develop schedule for grantee and delegate agency parent, client, and staff orientation and training in the beginning of the new school year. (Evidence: Sign-in sheets and/or agendas [kept by PLC].)

Parent, client, and staff orientation and training by the two specially trained teachers was ongoing. A sample of presentations by one of those specially trained teachers is shown below in Table 2. (See Appendix D, Items 1-4.)

The planning of, as well as the actions necessary to carry out the plan, were accomplished as intended.

Conclusion

This objective was easily attained. Information and orientation presentations were quite numerous.

Objectives 4.7

(Application Reference Activity 3.4) By September 1993 the Target Cities and ART project staff will provide cross training in: counseling, referrals, roles and responsibilities, services available, treatment, and after-care services. (Evidence: Sign-in sheets, agendas, materials [kept by agency staff], and minutes [kept by PLC].)

Cross-training was taking place at least a year earlier, by September 1992, as shown by a memo, directions for proceeding and actual forms already created. (See Appendix E Item 1 for the memo and Items 2-7 for a sample of the procedures and forms to be used.)

Conclusion

This objective was attained.

Objectives 4.8

(Application Reference Objective 2.3) On an on-going basis, approximately 30 cross-trained staff and parents from Head Start and the Enhancement Programs will provide information and orientation regarding the ART Project, Substance Abuse and/or Child Abuse to 1,000 parents and staff. This will include training provided by Target Cities and Project staff, to outside agencies and consultants in the areas of substance and/or child abuse for Head Start support staff.

Note

Two full-time specially trained ART project teachers were written into the original grant application. Also in that application was a statement that 1,500 parents and staff would receive information and orientation on the ART project, substance abuse and/or child abuse. The number of parents and staff to be reached was reduced from 1,500 to 1,000. This reduction was made because of the unexpected staffing difficulties mentioned above. (See Objective 2.4.) (Evidence: Agendas, sign-in sheets [kept by agency staff] and minutes [kept by PLC].)

Interim Findings

The external program evaluator reviewed the records of the PLC on March 1, 1993. By that date, her records showed that 600 parents and staff had received information and orientation regarding this project, and substance abuse and/or child abuse.

Interim Conclusion

A quick comparison between the number reached by March 1, 1993—600—and the number to be reached by September 30, 1994—1,000—revealed that 400 more remained to be reached during the 1993-94 school year.

Final Findings

By the end of November 1994, the external program evaluator had again reviewed the records of the PLC. Two sets of data supported the assertion that at least 400 more parents and staff received information and orientation regarding the ART Project as well as substance abuse and/or child abuse.

First, more than 500 attended the conference, "Synergy, Systems, and Support for Children and Families Affected by Substance Abuse" held on January 10-11, 1994. (See Appendix C, Items 4 and 5.) Second, see the two samples of site presentations made by the specially trained ART project teachers; that is, see Objective 4.3. (See also Appendix D.) (For still more documentation, please see Appendix F, Items 1-3.)

Conclusion

This objective was attained.

Objective 4.9

(Application Reference Activity 3.5) By September 1994 the Trainer of Trainers (specially trained teachers) will train a core of specially trained teachers to continue training other teachers as the program grows. Training will be: Sequential, cumulative, and capacity building. Training will be conducted using lecture, demonstration, coaching, and feedback strategies. Time spent in the classrooms will be devoted to "teaching the teachers." Coaching on previous teaching sessions, providing feedback on the training, and assisting classroom teachers with IEPs, evaluations, assessments of substance-exposed children. (Evidence: Teacher calendar and notations, staff supervisors' evaluations, anecdotal records of supervisors, and evaluator observations.)

Training was based in large part on what was learned during a "two-day trainer of trainers' session" entitled, "Teaching Strategies for Young Children: Drug Exposed and At Risk." The training materials and manual were provided by the Hillsborough Education Foundation of Tampa, Florida. (See Appendix G Item 1 for the title page of the trainers' manual, Item 2 for the table of contents, Item 3 for the introduction, Item 4 for the philosophy, Item 5 for the course goals, and Item 6 for a partial list of training sessions attended by one ART special teacher.

Conclusion

This objective was attained.

Objective 5.2

(Application Reference Activity 3.3) By the end of: September 30, 1992; September 30, 1993; and September 30, 1994, the two specially trained teachers will rotate among the sites. (Evidence: Sign-in sheets, agendas [kept by agency staff], and observation by coordinator [kept by PLC].)

Both of the specially trained teachers rotated among many different sites for various purposes. For example, sign-in sheets and/or agendas were available for nearly all of the presentations listed in the "Findings" section under Objective 4.3.

Conclusion

This objective was easily attained.

Objective 5.4

(Application Reference Objective 1.3) On an on-going basis Head Start agencies will provide comprehensive services for children and families referred by Target Cities Project. (Evidence: Site enrollment records, sign-in sheets for meetings, minutes [kept by agency staff].)

Objective 5.5

(Application Reference Objective 1.4) On an on-going basis, the Target Cities Enhancement Project will provide family assessment, staff training, referral and counseling. (Evidence: Enrollment records, agendas for staff training [kept by ADP agency staff].)

The "comprehensive services" in Objective 5.4 includes those areas mentioned in Objective 5.5. "Family assessment" was a routine process which was well integrated into the project. "Staff training" was extensive. (See Objective 4.3.) The "referral and counseling" in Objective 5.5 relates to cross-referral between Head Start sites and treatment centers as well as those counseling interventions taken at the treatment sites. The term, "counseling," narrowly construed, refers only to those actions taken by a California State licensed counselor—who in this case, worked at a treatment site.

The two specially trained teachers provided information to at-need parents by explaining the various forms of assistance available to them at treatment centers. In turn, treatment center staff referred their clients who were parents of young children to Head Start.

A record of the cross-referrals was made and reported by the specially trained teachers to the PLC on a quarterly basis. (See Appendix H.)

Conclusion

This objective was attained.

Objective 5.6

By June 1994 the Target Cities staff, Head Start, ART, STAR, and Family Service Center staff will design a joint case management model and implement the model in at least one site. (Evidence: Management model included in joint training packets and/or minutes from planning meetings. Scheduled joint case planning conference.)

A joint case management model was not created or implemented.

Conclusion

This objective was not attained.

Notation

It now appears that a much larger grant over a much longer time frame would be required to accomplish this task.

Objective 6.3

By April 1994 the educational program evaluation will conduct formal on-site evaluation visits. (Evidence: Calendars.)

A number of on-site visits were made, in 1992, 1993, and 1994. (See Table 1.)

Conclusion

This objective was attained.

Objective 6.4

By December 1994 the educational program evaluator will submit the final evaluation report for the ART project. (Evidence: Certified receipt for mailing the report in December 1994.)

The receipt is available.

Conclusion

This objective was attained.

Also in that application was a statement that 1,500 parents and staff would receive information and orientation on the ART project, substance abuse and/or child abuse. The number of parents and staff to be reached has been reduced from 1,500 to 1,000 since one of the project teacher positions was unfilled for 1 1/2 years. Unfortunately, there was an untimely death.	On-going through September 30, 1994	Agendas, sign-in sheets (kept by agency staff), and minutes(kept by PLC).	Findings The external program evaluator reviewed the records of the project liaison coordinator on March 1, 1993. April, 1993	Calendar of meetings with staff responsible for evidence.	Findings There was a riot in Los Angeles in the spring of 1992. The civil unrest was sparked by a "not guilty" judgment for four Los Angeles policemen accused of beating motorist King. After the riots, a federal charge of "violation of King's civil rights" was filed. The federal case was due to be heard in court in the spring of 1993. Los Angeles braced for another riot as the judgment of the federal court approached. In this tense situation the on-site visits by the evaluator were postponed until after the court's decision. On-site visits were made on June 10 and 17, 1993, instead of in April 1993. Conclusion Technically this objective was not attained since the formative evaluation visits took place in June instead of April 1993. Part C
Evaluation Update
June 1993

Project Evaluation Update

According to the original grant application, a project evaluation report is due to the funding agency following the end of the project; i.e., following September 30, 1994.

The decision was made that Dr. Donald L. Kester of the Division of Educational Support Services, Los Angeles County Office of Education would conduct the program evaluation, it was jointly decided by Dr. Kester and Bobbi Savage, the project facilitator, that an earlier formative evaluation would also be conducted. The formative evaluation would occur following the development of a project evaluation plan and before the summative evaluation report due date, which followed September 1994. Consequently, during the 1991-1992 school year Ms. Savage and Dr. Kester met several times to create the evaluation plan which would guide the two evaluations. A copy of that evaluation plan was submitted to the funding agency for their review and comments, if any. Having received no suggestions for revisions, the project evaluator and project facilitator have followed that plan. Chronologically evaluation has proceeded as described below.

- I Revision of the project objectives contained in the grant application and creation of the project evaluation plan (1991-1992)
- II Formative Evaluation (1992-1993)
The formative evaluation consisted of two main parts. The first part focused on the office of the project facilitator, while the second one focused on various other sites identified in the grant application and evaluation plan.

Project Facilitator's Records

During his on-site visit to the facilitator's office, the evaluator used the ten page evaluation plan to guide the review. Each objective in the plan was addressed one-by-one, and the facilitator located and opened file folders that contained the evidence called for in the plan to show that needed activities had occurred as described in the grant application and evaluation plan. For the most part, the plan itself withstood the document review. However, one page of the plan was judged to be redundant. For the other nine pages, the facilitator was generally able to easily produce the desired evidence.

Site Visits

Accompanied by the facilitator, the project evaluator made on-site visits and conducted interviews at the following locations:

- Plaza de la Raza
- Kedren Community Health Center
- Two Head Start Sites
- Joint Efforts Community Resource Center and
- Volunteers of America Parent/Child Center

Not visited this time, but on the evaluator's list to be visited early next fall are the Behavioral Health Service and the Watts Community Resource Center.

During those on-site visits, the evaluator:

- I Discussed the need for data as a basis not only for the formal summative project evaluation report, but also for the less formal, formative evaluation report (due September 30, 1993) and

- II. Discussed in detail categories of data that might be collected routinely and periodically.

Fortunately, consensus was reached on a draft of a report form which would be filled out by site personnel and submitted quarterly to the project facilitator. That report form has the following seven sections:

- I. A record of each presentation made routinely to individuals and/or groups (date, location, number attending, agenda, sign-in sheet, minutes, etc.)
- II. A record of referrals from Head Start sites to drug and alcohol treatment program; e.g., Behavioral Health Services and Watts Community Resource Center
- III. A record of referrals to Head Start sites from drug and alcohol treatment programs
- IV. A record (log) of referrals made over the telephone
- V. A record of presentations made to community outreach groups not listed under number one above
- VI. Other, and finally
- VII. A narrative description of a real case study, using fictitious names to insure confidentiality

During the on-site evaluation interviews, everyone was pleasant and cooperative. One difficulty arose and was discussed. That difficulty had to do with the confidentiality of records. It was decided that the report form could show either real names or a code—as long as the code exactly matched a file on a real person which would be shown to the evaluator during his on-site visits. After the evaluator's review of that confidential file it would be returned to a locked file.

The report form will be finalized this summer (1993) and will allow the evaluator to construct tables of summarized data; showing for example, where and how many presentations were made and how many people attended. In addition to the numbers, information from the actual case studies or vignettes will allow the evaluator to present examples of how real people were served or not served and why.

The formative evaluation report will be presented to the project facilitator and the project's advisory committee in early fall 1993.

Dear Susan:

Subject: Grant No. 90-CD-0831/01

We have compiled the attached program evaluation plan for the Los Angeles Target Cities/Head Start Assessment, Referral and Training (ART) Project. This document reflects numerous meetings with project evaluator Dr. Donald Kester (resume attached) and myself to review the original project proposal submitted in August, and your helpful suggestions for clarification written September 5, 1991.

Please review this document for any suggestions you have. If possible, please let us know of necessary changes or additions to this evaluation plan by September, 1992. Unless we hear otherwise, we will assume that it is satisfactory "as is" and will distribute it to all ART project team members at our October meeting.

In addition, your letter of September 5th included a request for a summary of specific services and support provided by the Los Angeles County Alcohol and Drug Programs to Head Start students and their families in the areas of training, referrals and counseling.

In exploring this request with Oscar Rascon, Target Cities Project Director, we are assured that:

- Head Start/ART Project clients will have access, as appropriate, to all services that any other alcohol or drug treatment client receives, including:
 - Individual Counseling
 - Group Counseling
 - Family Therapy
 - Education
 - Parenting
 - Nutrition
 - Life Skills
 - Social/Recreational Activities that are alcohol and drug-free, and that involve the family.
 - Ancillary resources as needed, e.g. emergency food shelter, clothing, ready access to battered women shelters, legal aid, children's services, youth services through adolescence, immigration services, assistance with utilities, etc.

Oscar indicates that emergency services were used 335 times between March and April of this year.

Alcohol and Drug Program staff participate regularly as part of the ART Project steering committee, and are actively involved in the planning and implementation of the recruitment/referral process as well as the ongoing training that is part of the ART project.

If you need additional information in any of these areas, please do not hesitate to contact me.

SUBJECT: ART Project Teacher - Kedren/Volunteers of America

The attached contract for release time reimbursement is a possible model for hiring our ART Project teacher.

Using this model, the grant money would be paid to the employing agency. The contract would be written between the two delegate agencies. Items 6, 7, and 8 address some of our concerns.

Per our contracts office, the employing agency would prepare the contract and send it to the second agency.

The contract should specify that supervision will be provided by the hiring agency with input for evaluation from the contracting agency.

Workers compensation will follow supervision. This can be stated as "During the time and to the extent that the employee is assigned to _____ agency to perform specified duties, workers compensation will be provided by the agency where the work is performed."

Hope this is helpful. Please give me a call, (310) 940-1812, if you have questions.

SUBJECT: Substance Abuse Teacher Hiring - Kedren and Volunteers of America

This is to confirm the items discussed at our recent meeting with Bob Owens, Ray Hernandez, you and I.

Due to the complicated personnel issues involved in hiring a teacher to be shared by Kedren and Volunteers of America.

Since Kedren staff work closely with the Kedren Mental Health Unit, substance abuse training is already part of the educational program. A specialized teacher to work with substance-exposed children is not necessary at this time.

The following items were agreed upon:

- The substance abuse teacher will be hired by Volunteers of America and will work there four days a week.
- Twenty percent (one day per week) of the substance abuse teacher's time will be available to provide technical assistance to Kedren as necessary in the following areas:
 - Development and implementation of the cross-referral process between Kedren and the Watts Health Foundation.
 - Staff Development
 - Parent Education
 - Serve as a Resource for Ordering Project Supplies

Kedren will continue to participate in the Target Cities' ART Project in the following areas:

- Participation as members of the ART Project Advisory Committee.
- Recruitment and cross-referral between Kedren and Watts Health Foundation.
- Cross-training for staff and parents.
- Maintain data on cross-referral cases.

A memorandum of understanding will be written for Kedren. The Volunteers of America Parent-Child Center contract will be renewed.

ART Project Description

Assessment, Referral, and Training

Los Angeles is one of eight target cities in the nation where Head Start and substance abuse programs work together to treat and prevent substance abuse and its effects on children. Through the ART project, four-year-old children whose parents are receiving treatment through Los Angeles County Alcohol and Drug Program agencies are enrolled in Head Start. Head Start staff will be trained to identify signs of possible substance abuse and to understand the resources that are available through participating alcohol and drug treatment programs. Through the three-year ART and STAR programs, Head Start staff are trained to work with substance-affected children in their classrooms. Parent education will be an integral part of this project.

Procedures are in place to refer children of treatment clients to Head Start and vice versa. Procedures have been established to work jointly to help families and children. These procedures will be shared with all Alcohol and Drug program providers as well as Head Start staff.

STAR Project Description

Substance Abuse Training and Referral

STAR is a three-year substance abuse training project directed at Head Start classroom and support services staff. Funded by the Department of Health and Human Services, the project will train up to 80 Head Start staff during each of the three years. An interdisciplinary team of local and nationally recognized experts will provide 40 hours of intensive training and experience in the following areas: identification of the signs and symptoms of abuse, understanding the impact of drugs and alcohol on all levels of society, recognizing and understanding the impact of drugs and alcohol on the parenting ability of the caretaker, recognition of the medical and developmental problems which may result from perinatal substance abuse, and strategies for intervening in the classroom and home with children and adults.

Monthly training sessions and classroom observation will reinforce skill development and learning. Workshops for parents are also planned. An advisory committee which includes representatives of the treatment community will provide guidance to the project on networking with treatment and referral resources. STAR and ART project staff work together to share training activities and to extend training to the largest possible number of Head Start agencies and staff.

Los Angeles County Target Cities Project Description

The Los Angeles County Target Cities Project is a collaborative effort involving the County of Los Angeles, the City of Los Angeles, the California State Department of Alcohol and Drug Programs, the federal Center for Substance Abuse Treatment and private outpatient drug treatment programs. The goal of the Los Angeles County Target Cities project is to reduce client drop-out and relapse rates by improving the quality and effectiveness of outpatient drug abuse treatment and recovery services in the City of Los Angeles.

Project enhancement strategies have focused special attention on the drug client's family, friends, neighbors, extended family, significant others, and community. In addition, project activities have concentrated on the development of linkages and resource service networks involving public and private ancillary service providers.

SUBJECT: HEAD START LINKAGE—NOTES FROM TARGET CITIES PAC
MEETING PRESENTATION 5/27/92

- A Target Cities/Head Start orientation conference is scheduled for Friday, September 25, 1992, location to be determined. An audience of 500-1000 Head Start staff and parents and Los Angeles County Alcohol and Drug Programs staff are anticipated.

The committee has drafted a letter inviting United States Surgeon General Antonia Novella as keynote speaker.

- Referrals from Alcohol and Drug Program to Head Start, and from Head Start to CRC's are on record.

Time is an initial barrier to the referral process. Each agency places time demands on parents. These sometimes conflicting demands must be taken into consideration by each agency.

- Continental Cable will host a one-hour call-in show featuring Kathy Shakir from the Watts Health Foundation's Uhuru Outpatient Center. Also featured will be Claudia Huevo from Plaza de la Raza Head Start.

Substance abuse prevention and intervention has become a major focus of three Head Start initiatives over the past three years. Two goals for the Los Angeles County Head Start Grantee in the area of substance abuse are:

- To consolidate the three existing substance abuse projects, STAR, ART and the Family Service Centers, and by doing so to institutionalize substance abuse into the basic Head Start program.

- To sponsor at least one major conference on the topic of substance abuse, gangs, etc. and their implications for Head Start.

To accomplish these two goals, a planning retreat is scheduled for October 13 and 14 at the Sheraton Anaheim. Vincent Bello and Mac Arthur Flourmoy will facilitate the retreat.

In order to create an effective plan to accomplish our goals, representation from various Head Start groups as well as outside agencies is sought. You are invited to be our guest for this two-day planning retreat. Hotel accommodations, meals, retreat supplies, and mileage will be paid for by the Head Start program. A follow-up planning date will be scheduled in the near future.

We request that you or your representative be prepared to attend the retreat for the two full days. We also request that you send a brief summary of your agency or group to Frank Lorah by October 5 to help us understand your project. This summary should be no longer than one page, and can be as short as a small paragraph. Dress will be casual.

Please complete the attached form and FAX or send to Frank Lorah at the LACOE Head Start Grantee Office by September 26, 1994. Frank's FAX number is (310)864-7678.

If you have any questions regarding this retreat, please contact Frank Lorah at (310)863-3421.

Andrew Kennedy,

INTRODUCTION

The course entitled "Strategies for Teaching Young Children At Risk and/or Prenatally Exposed to Drugs" was originally designed to assist teachers of young children (pre-kindergarten and kindergarten) within the Hillsborough County Public School District. Sharing with other school districts came about only as a result of many requests and inquiries that were made by individuals and school districts around the country. Although teachers within special education were invited to participate in the course, the strategies are actually designed for teachers who have 25 or more children in their classrooms, because this is the reality of the difficult economic situation in Florida, and particularly in Hillsborough County.

The classroom techniques, materials, and activities were designed for early childhood education. Some of the concepts and principles taught within the course can be applied to children in primary or upper grades, or to children in other settings. Participants from older grade levels or non-education settings who elect to take this course must be prepared to make adaptations of the techniques and materials. Non-classroom participants, such as guidance counselors, resource teachers, administrators, and social workers, will receive assistance during the course in the ways that they can be helpful to classroom teachers.

On February 2, 1991, the New York Times ran an article on the educational problems of "crack babies." In the article which appeared on the front page, the teacher training initiative being carried out in Hillsborough County Public Schools was mentioned. Dr. Paul Jellinet, then Senior Program Manager for the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, contacted the office of the superintendent of schools in Hillsborough County for more information about the training program. Linda Delapenha, Chairperson of Hillsborough County Schools Drug-exposed Children's Committee, was asked to contact him and provide the necessary information. After hearing about what Hillsborough County was doing and the requests that were being received to share information with other school districts, Dr. Jellinet requested that a proposal be submitted to the Foundation. On April 23, 1991, the Hillsborough County School Board approved the submission of the grant to the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation in the name of the Hillsborough Education Foundation, a 501(c)(3) tax exempt foundation established to support the Hillsborough County School System. It is through the generosity of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation that this training can take place.

The outline for the course entitled "Teaching Strategies for Young Children: Drug-Exposed and At Risk" was developed by the Drug Exposed Children's Committee (DECC) of Hillsborough County Public Schools over a one year period. For the first time in October of 1990, Hillsborough County teachers were able to take the course taught and further developed by Joan Altshuler. In the spring of 1991, two separate sections of the course were taught by Joan Altshuler and Susan Schneider so that teachers living in different parts of the county could take the course conveniently. These two sessions were repeated in October 1991. In its final version, this course was offered at night for six continuous weeks in three hour segments. Teachers receive recertification points from the Teacher Education Center, which administers staff development in the school districts of Florida. After each course was completed, teachers were asked to give suggestions for improving the course. This final version reflects the many constructive suggestions received by teachers who completed the course.

Item 4

PHILOSOPHY

The following statements form the foundation for this course. They are based on national research and research conducted in Hillsborough County, Florida.

- Infants (under 18 months) should be identified for intervention purposes only. After the age of 12 to 18 months, interventions for young children from high risk environments become very similar regardless of the reasons for their being at risk. It is not necessary for children older than 18 months to be identified for the purpose of classroom interventions or placement.
- Young children (over 18 months), no matter why they are at risk, need to be in developmentally appropriate, early childhood programs that enhance self-esteem, provide organized structured environments and routines, use multi-sensory approaches which include visual cues, emphasize language and motor development, and employ teachers who are sensitive to children's and families' needs.
- Language development must be a curriculum focus for classrooms with children from high risk environments.
- Since the population of students entering our public schools is changing with more students coming from high risk environments, schools need to adopt existing teaching strategies that will ameliorate the effects of these environments by giving children real opportunities to be successful learners.
- Without early intervention and developmentally appropriate educational opportunities, children from high risk environments may never achieve their full potential.

Hillsborough Education Foundation

Item 5

COURSE GOALS

- Teachers will have the necessary tools, skills, and sensitivities to see that children prenatally exposed to drugs, and all children from high risk environments, can have success in school, within the regular education program.
- Educators will learn techniques to break down the communication barriers that may exist between regular education and special education. Teachers need to draw on the strengths of both components of education to improve the quality of instruction for all children.
- Teachers will learn to enhance the physical and emotional environment within the regular education classroom for optimal learning experiences for all children. These techniques can be implemented even when ideal class sizes do not exist.
- Each teacher will design an intervention plan for a child from a high risk environment who is in his/her classroom.
- Educators will have a more positive attitude toward and understanding of families and children who come from high risk environments.

A.R.T. PROJECT
CASE STUDY
December 16, 1994

SITE: ~~Plaza De La Raza~~
SCHOOL YEAR: 1003-1994
CHILD'S NAME: ~~John~~ Smith NOT HIS REAL NAME
OTHER CHILDREN: ~~John~~ Smith NOT HER REAL NAME a teenage son who is at a home for boys
PARENT: ~~John~~ Smith NOT HER REAL NAME

Mrs. Smith was referred to us (Head Start) by Behavioral Health Services because she had a child that qualified to enter Head Start through the A.R.T. Project.

The child, ~~John~~ Smith, WAS THAT OF A VERY RESTLESS CHILD came into our program when he was three (3) years old. His behavior needed to be changed. He would only be able to sit for at least three (3) minutes to complete a task and during meals the child would throw his food on the ground or spill his milk over and over again. During small group or transition time he would wander around and he would want to explore everything.

It was very difficult at first to work with ~~John~~ in the beginning, but then when mom came and participated in the program the child's behavior began to change.

The child was also referred to the ~~Plaza De La Raza~~ Area Cooperation Special Education Program for his speech which was another reason why he felt so frustrated. He received services for speech right at the center during school hours.

Teacher ~~Adrian~~ and I worked together along with the rest of the staff in working with ~~John~~ and mom in providing services and support. We implemented some of the Hillsborough Strategies when working with the child.

During this school year 1993-1994 the family asked for services in housing, education and in support with their children.

While Mrs. Smith was in our program she was finishing her classes with B.H.S. and her community work. And was looking forward to a job training program.

Towards the end of the school year 1993-1994, Mrs. Smith's husband was out of jail and at home. During this time Mrs. Smith did not prepare the paperwork necessary to register her child for the next school year. Plus she had moved out of her sisters house and far from the center in ~~Plaza De La Raza~~ where the child was attending.

We had not heard from Mrs. Smith until November, 1994 she called the center and spoke with her child's teacher (~~Adrian~~) and asked her to please let me know that she needed my help for she was in crisis.

CASE STUDY
Juan Smith
Page 2

← NOT A REAL NAME

She wanted help with the children. First of all, she wanted Juan back in school for she saw how much it had helped him. Also her youngest daughter needed a day care program that would allow her to seek work or a job training. Mrs. Smith mentioned that it had been difficult with her husband back home and that it had brought on a sense of anxiousness for her.

Another thing she mentioned was the fact that she was in jail. She did not elaborate about this but looked worried.

I reassured her that we would be in touch and that I would send her the registration package for her children. And to please feel free to contact me.

She also disclosed that she was having trouble with her apt. as far as getting robbed and her car getting broken into. She is now in the process of looking for another place to live. MB. commented that she was having difficulty with the section 8 housing and would be seeking assistance in this matter. I advised her to let her BHS counselor know so see if they could be of assistance to her.

VOLUNTEERS OF AMERICA

Harbor City Parent Child Center

CASE STUDY:

[redacted], who has been an A.R.T. Project parent since September, 1993, came to me in November, 1994, in need of help. She was very ill, and she was a victim of domestic violence the night before she arrived at the center. She stated that her boyfriend, who is also the father of her two children, hit her and threw his drink at her. She stated that he threatened to kill her, he reminded her of how her sister's boyfriend had murdered her, and he asked her if she would like the same to happen to her. I spoke with [redacted] when she came into the center, and I asked her to go to the hospital to be examined. She left her two children at the Parent Child Center, and she went to the hospital. At that time she stated that she was ready to go to a shelter, and I arranged for her to go to a shelter.

[redacted] was admitted to the hospital, and she was diagnosed with pneumonia. I asked her if she would like me to call her social worker to pick up her children, but she refused and became very agitated. [redacted] had bad experiences with the Department of Childrens Services in the past, and she was afraid that they would take her children and not return them to her (Her children were taken from the family and put in foster care in the past). She stated that the children's step-grandmother, [redacted], who was on their emergency card, would pick them up. [redacted] is the children's fathers step mother. [redacted] picked up the children at the end of that day, and according to the teaching staff, the children seemed apprehensive about going with her.

The Parent Child Center has a SCAN (Suspected Child Abuse and Neglect) team, and I called a meeting with all SCAN team members that day. The team decided that we should call DCS and make a report with them because we feared that the children were not safe. I called and made a report, and I followed up with a written report.

The DCS social worker went to the hospital that [redacted] was staying at, and she asked [redacted] where her children were. [redacted] stated that her children were with their father. DCS went to the father's house, and they found the children there and the father high on drugs.

[redacted] continues to bring her children to the Parent Child Center, but is very angry about what happened. She denied being hit by her boyfriend, and she said that she would never consider going to a shelter because the children's father tries, and he is good to the kids. I feel that [redacted] still feels the need to talk to me about the kids and her life, but she no longer talks about issues which may cause her to lose her children or boyfriend.

WHAT IS ADDICTION?

When a person cannot stop using a drug even though it causes serious problems, the person has a drug addiction.

A person with a drug addiction has very strong urges to use the drug. The person can't always control the urge, even when using the drug causes trouble with family, friends, job, school, money, health or the law.

Drug addiction is a disease. Most people need treatment to recover from addiction.

HOW DOES ADDICTION WORK?

A person becomes addicted in two ways.

First, the drug changes the way the brain works. The more of a drug the person uses, the more the brain changes. Soon, the brain needs the drug just to feel normal. Without the drug, the person will feel sick. This is physical addiction.

Second, the person learns to use the drug to feel good, or to cover up feelings like being afraid, shy, sad, lonely or angry. Soon the person can't feel good or deal with strong feelings without the drug. This is psychological addiction.

These two addictions usually occur together. This makes it very hard to stop using the drug.

WHAT KINDS OF DRUGS ARE ADDICTIVE?

Many drugs can be addictive. But some drugs are more addictive than others.

Nicotine (in tobacco) is very addictive. Nine out of every ten people who use tobacco get addicted. Cocaine, speed and ice are also very addictive.

Heroin and other narcotics such as prescription pain pills can often be addictive. Alcohol, tranquilizers or sleeping pills addict about one out of every ten people who try them.

Steroids used to pump up muscles are addictive. People can also get addicted to PCP, LSD and inhalants.

Marijuana is addictive. But because it stays in the body a long time (one joint stays in the body three to four weeks), there are fewer withdrawal symptoms. So some people mistakenly think marijuana is not addictive.

WARNING SIGNS OF ADDICTION

You may have an addiction if you:

- ▲ Use more and more of a drug to get the same effect.
- ▲ Are concerned about your drinking, smoking or other drug use.
- ▲ Have friends and relatives who are concerned about your drug use.
- ▲ Drink alcohol, smoke cigarettes or use other drugs to help you get going, relax or deal with feelings.
- ▲ Use alcohol or other drugs to get yourself to do something you wouldn't or couldn't do without using the drug.
- ▲ Find yourself thinking about getting the drug or wanting to get high when you're not using the drug.
- ▲ Have tried but not been able to cut down your alcohol, tobacco or other drug use.
- ▲ Have tried but not always been able to set a limit and then stop.
- ▲ Become angry or annoyed when others complain about your drug use.
- ▲ Sometimes feel guilty about your drug use.

For more information about addictions and treatment look in the yellow pages of your local telephone book under drug abuse and addiction information. Or call the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence for a list of local treatment centers:

Appendix H
Item 6-1

WHO CAN GET ADDICTED TO DRUGS?

Anyone who uses an addictive drug can get addicted. Addiction can happen to a person of any age, sex or background.

Some people get addicted easier than others. You have a greater chance of becoming addicted if:

- ▲▲ Your parents, grandparents or even your great-grandparents had a problem with alcohol or other drugs.
- ▲▲ Your friends smoke, drink or use other drugs.
- ▲▲ You use drugs to deal with uncomfortable feelings.

HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE TO GET ADDICTED?

It depends on the person and the drug. Some people get addicted right away. Others need time and frequent use of the drug. Young people become addicted faster than adults.

Some drugs cause addiction sooner than others. Nicotine, cocaine and speed quickly cause addiction.

DOES A PERSON HAVE TO USE A DRUG EVERY DAY TO BE ADDICTED?

No. Many people with an addiction go for long periods of time between uses. If drug use causes problems and a person continues to use the drug anyway, he or she probably has a drug addiction.

CAN DRUG ADDICTION BE TREATED AND CURED?

A person with a drug addiction will always have the addiction. But the person can learn to be comfortable and happy without drugs.

Treatment and recovery have three parts. The person must (1) stop using the drug and receive treatment for withdrawal symptoms if necessary, (2) learn how the drug worked in his or her life, and (3) learn how to avoid using the drug again.

A person usually needs help from others to recover from an addiction. But others can't help an addicted person who doesn't want to get well.

WHAT IS DENIAL?

Many addicted people can't believe they have a drug problem, even though it's clear to others that the drug is harming them. This is called denial.

Denial is a major barrier to recovery. A person can't get successful treatment if he or she doesn't think there is a problem.

WHAT IS WITHDRAWAL?

When the brain becomes used to a drug it needs the drug just to feel normal. Without the drug, the person feels sick. This is called withdrawal.

Nicotine, cocaine and speed withdrawal can cause depression, irritability, restlessness and sleep problems. Withdrawal from heroin or other pain medicines can cause muscle cramps, diarrhea, vomiting and pain in the joints.

Withdrawal from alcohol, sleeping medicines and tranquilizers can be very serious. Convulsions or a heart attack may occur.

Delirium tremens ("DTs") is a serious form of alcohol withdrawal. The person's heartbeat and temperature go up. The person may see things that aren't there. Many people have died from DTs.

WHAT IS RELAPSE?

A person with an addiction may start using the drug again at any time. He or she may remember the ways the drug made him or her feel good, and forget the problems (fights, accidents, arguments, etc.) the drug caused. This is called relapse.

In treatment, the person will learn to watch for signs of a relapse and will learn ways to avoid starting to use the drug again.

WHO TREATS DRUG ADDICTION?

Many doctors, therapists and other counselors are trained to treat drug and alcohol addiction. Treatment will depend on the drug, the addiction and person. Drug counselors work closely with the person to decide on the best treatment.

Some people will stay in a hospital or a drug treatment center during withdrawal. Others receive outpatient counseling and group therapy on a regular daily or weekly basis. Many counselors suggest Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous or other "twelve-step" self-help groups as part of treatment.

STAGES OF ADDICTION AND RECOVERY

1 THE PERSON STARTS USING A DRUG. People begin using drugs for many reasons. To fit in, to act grown up, to satisfy curiosity, to relax and to get "high" are some common reasons why people begin using drugs.	2 THE PERSON GETS HIGH. The drug changes the way the brain works. This changes how the person feels, thinks and acts. These brain changes cause the person to feel "high," "buzzed" or "relaxed." The drug high can last from twenty minutes (cocaine and nicotine) to several hours (most of the other addictive drugs).	3 THE PERSON KEEPS USING THE DRUG. The person begins to use the drug to feel good. The person may also notice that the drug helps him or her to relax or forget about problems, and makes it easier to do other things he or she wouldn't be able to do without the drug.	4 THE BRAIN CHANGES. After the high goes away and the drug leaves the body, the brain doesn't go back to normal right away even though the person may feel normal. Brain changes from repeated drug use can last from several days to many weeks and months. Some changes, such as memory loss, sleeping problems, restlessness and nervousness, can last from six months to many years.
--	---	--	--

5 IT TAKES MORE OF THE DRUG TO GET HIGH. Over time, the brain adjusts to the drug. Then the person needs more of the drug to get high. This is called tolerance. Tolerance is an early warning sign of addiction.	6 THE PERSON STARTS TO DEPEND ON THE DRUG. The person depends on the drug more and more. The person may do things while using the drug that he or she regrets or feels sorry for. Then he or she takes more of the drug to forget about the problems such behavior causes. Even though the drug may be causing problems in the person's life, the person can't or won't stop using the drug. This is a sign of addiction.	7 THE PERSON GETS SICK WITHOUT THE DRUG. The brain gets used to the drug. If the drug is stopped suddenly, the brain doesn't work normally anymore. Without the drug, the addicted person may feel anxious, nervous, restless or depressed. These are withdrawal symptoms. The symptoms go away when the person uses the drug. This is a sign of addiction.	8 THE DRUG CAUSES SERIOUS PROBLEMS FOR THE PERSON. Even though the drug causes trouble in the person's life, he or she denies that the drug has anything to do with the problems. Denial is a sign of addiction. To get treatment, the person must first believe there is a problem, then seek help to stop using the drug. Denial keeps the person from asking for and receiving treatment for the addiction.
9 THE PERSON "HITS BOTTOM" AND CAN NO LONGER DENY THE ADDICTION. Something happens in the person's life that causes him or her to admit there is a problem. This is often called "reaching bottom," or "bottoming out." This is different for each person. Then the person decides to do whatever it takes to stop using the drug and get treatment.	10 THE PERSON STOPS USING THE DRUG. When an addicted person stops using the drug, he or she usually will have some kind of physical withdrawal. During this stage of recovery, the brain and body are trying to remember how to work without the drug. Drug withdrawal can be mild to severe. It depends on the drug, the addiction and the person. It can last several days to several weeks. Medical help may be needed to get through the physical withdrawal symptoms.	11 THE PERSON LEARNS ABOUT DRUG ADDICTION. To recover from addiction, the person will learn how drugs worked in his or her life. The person will learn why and how he or she used the drugs to deal with life's problems. Counseling and group therapy are often needed during this stage. Self-help recovery groups can help many people understand the powerful effects drugs can have on people's lives.	12 THE PERSON LEARNS TO LIVE COMFORTABLY WITHOUT DRUGS. A person with an addiction can not use drugs again. To recover, the person will learn positive and healthy ways to cope with day-to-day life without using drugs. This stage can last for a long time. Therapy and/or ongoing self-help support groups can be helpful during this stage. Helping others through the early stages of recovery can make it easier for the recovering person not to start using the drug again.

Joint Efforts' Mission Statement

To educate the greater Los Angeles harbor residents to the health and social resources of their community, to assist them in meeting their needs through existing local resources and to provide additional resources and direct services.

History of Joint Efforts, Inc.

Joint Efforts, a non profit organization, was founded in 1968 by a group of men and women from the Los Angeles Harbor Area. In sharing experiences, they realized that they and many others in the community were suffering from a lack of adequate health care and other social services. In 1967 they organized themselves and began applying pressure as a recognized power group in the community.

In 1968 the group began the incorporation process, and in 1969 they received their first funding to open an outpatient drug free treatment program. This treatment program has been ongoing since then and is still in operation today. Throughout the years, Joint Efforts has offered many services to the community, including: employment training, operating a clerical school, sheltering the homeless and AIDS case management. Recently, through a grant from the Centers for Disease Control, Joint Efforts developed a model for AIDS prevention and education to Hispanic women.

Getting Started

THE MESSAGE

In the old days, women sat for hours at a spinning wheel carefully weaving fibers into fine cloth. These fibers or threads determined the strength, beauty, color, and design of the fabric. This curriculum, developed by the National Head Start Association (NHSA), has been designed with the Head Start family in mind.

The family is the primary social unit for adults and children. The content of this curriculum addresses self-esteem as the thread that determines the strength of the family fabric. Both adults and children need to feel good about themselves. They need to feel loved and empowered.

Throughout this curriculum, both adults and children will participate in activities that will strengthen their families and provide them with choices. These activities need not be limited to a period of 10 weeks. The message can and should become part of the everyday program operation. Clearly, the message is

I am lovable,
capable, and worthy!

PURPOSES OF THE CURRICULUM

Like most parent-education programs, "Parents Getting a Head Start Against Drugs" has two goals:

- To ensure or enhance adequate child development, learning, and personal-social growth.
- To build parent-family skills, understanding, confidence, and support.

These two goals have been woven into the structure of this program, which is based on these eight objectives:

1. To inform, advise, or guide parents about child development, learning, and socialization.

Appendix I

Item 1-4

2. To involve parents in children's learning and school experiences, or in the conduct of school-related projects.
3. To teach specific skills to parents, especially in the areas of child learning and behavioral management.
4. To prevent problems in child development or family relations. Families at high risk are often the focus of this goal.
5. To provide intervention, counseling, or rehabilitation to families in which there are known problems in child development or family relations.
6. To assist parents in rearing and educating children who have developmental problems or disabling conditions.
7. To provide social supports to parents in the general community.
8. To encourage and facilitate parent-promoted self-help, and special-interest groups.

INTRODUCING THE CURRICULUM

Sometimes, the first step is the most difficult. This curriculum is so special, and making preparations is important. Here are two recommendations:

- Plan a special staff meeting to introduce the curriculum to everyone.
- Plan a special community meeting to introduce the program to support organizations, police departments, health departments, and groups and individuals involved in preventing alcohol and other drug (AOD) problems.

CELEBRATION FORMAT

The opening of each session should be special. Plan to have a different celebration for each module. Allow enough time at the beginning for participants to socialize and enjoy refreshments. Make the mood festive and conduct an "ice-breaker" activity.

The schedule for the opening celebration could follow this design:

Celebration. Schedule the celebration for 15 minutes before the session begins or after it is completed.

Warmup/icebreaker. If celebration takes place before session icebreaker begins, include a warmup. The warmup puts the group at ease and sets the stage for learning.

Appendix I

Item 1-5

Tone. Indicate that everyone will be expected to participate. There will also be time for reflective thinking and group activities.

Learning responsibility. It is the participant's responsibility to learn. The trainer is actually a facilitator.

Trainer/facilitator type. Let the group know what type of person you facilitator types are. Are you friendly or distant? Warm or cool? Active or laid back?

THE CELEBRATION

All of us need to feel special every day. Adults and children need large doses of attention, affection, and concern. Someone estimated that humans need several hugs every day. Everyone needs to feel that they are both lovable and capable. By focusing on the positive vibes, we all are strengthened: parents, children, and the whole family.

Prior to conducting each module, set aside at least 15 minutes for a special celebration. The mood should be festive, happy, and informal. The celebration for module 10, "Appreciating Our Families," will take place following the closing session.

The purpose for celebrating at each session is to focus on the positive and special qualities of each person. People can begin to find the things that make them feel good naturally. Some parents may find things that make life more pleasant for themselves or their families. Through discussion and sharing, parents may discover special traits of family or friends. They can then be encouraged to feel good about these special things and work to strengthen them.

The more special qualities that parents are encouraged to see in themselves, the less likely they may be to need artificial and short-lived highs, such as a drink to take the edge off, or licit or illicit drugs to get up or to slow down. It will become clear that people can celebrate anytime and anywhere without the help of a crutch.

It is especially important that these celebrations show how this kind of fun can be replicated at home. Many people have a narrow concept of fun and celebration. Some adults might resist having fun because of overwhelming responsibilities, feelings of hopelessness, negative attitudes, or other concerns.

The focus for these experiences is on informality, love, fun, economy, support, and unity. No matter how bad things seem, the message to convey is that where there is love, there is also strength and a reason to celebrate.

For each celebration session, be prepared with the following props and materials:

Jefferson Sa' inquired about the amount of time budgeted for training. Mr. Jordan stated the time needed for training would depend on the individual. Hands-on training will take two months on the average. The contractor and the County will provide two phases of full configuration local and central system training. It was suggested that providers may want to meet and consider changing the equipment. The County is supportive of this, if all the agencies agree.

Update on the Status of the Objectives

General Information - Mr. Rascon asked that the CRC's meet on a monthly basis. An individual attending that meeting will report to the PAC on the issues that were discussed. Area agency meetings are also conducted at least once a month. Mr. Rascon asked for suggestions on unique names for each area CRC. He will report on the names that were chosen at the next meeting.

The County is preparing for the Recovery Options for Women Workshop which will be held March 27th. They have received 56 responses thus far. The focus of the workshop will be issues and conditions relative to post-partum, pregnant, and addicted women.

Mr. Rascon distributed the monthly statistical report on it and emphasized that it is a product of a manual data collection system. The male to female ratio for project registrants remained relatively the same.

Vocational Rehabilitation - Delores Brown of the Department of Rehabilitation discussed their activities. The Department of Rehabilitation has received 67 new applications and has accepted 17; they have initiated 19 plans of which 14 are pending; they have two rehabilitations and 62 cases are open. They are confident they will reach their project goal of 200 active cases.

Mayor's Office - Robert Adams reported on the status of the contract. At this time the contract with the County has not been signed. The Mayor's Office has written a CEA report which is scheduled to go to committee for approval by March 30. A Calendar of Events of Cultural Affairs was sent to the CRC's. The calendar chronicles events in the community which are free or at a nominal cost. The Mayor's Office encourages our participation. The new Directress of the Department of Parks and Recreation is Jackie Tatum. A list of sites and activities for every park in the City of Los Angeles will be provided to the CRC's. The Youth Services Academy is offering job opportunities. Beginning tonight a play called "Gangs" will be shown. West Area Opportunity Center, Watts Health Foundation, Behavior Health Services, and El Proyecto del Barrio have received complimentary admission. Assessment of the city's resources will be completed soon. It will include a breakdown of each program by department and a contact person. The "Hope and Youth Rally" was conducted last week. The Mayor is trying to raise two million dollars to support this Gang Initiative and would like for everyone to get involved.

Head Start - Roberta Savage walked through the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the Head Start Grantee - Los Angeles County of Education (LACOE), and the delegate agency Los Angeles Drug Program Enhancement Project (LADPEP). The document identifies the responsibilities of both parties and the activities which they will conduct. Meetings are held twice a month to discuss any issues or problems.

The next meeting of Head Start will be in Washington D.C., May 6-8, 1992. Ms. Savage stated Head Start is willing to cover the expenses for two of our project participants to attend. The minimum number of slots available to our project participants is 32. All agencies will have access to Head Start services. Ms. Savage announced that the North Hollywood site will not open, instead a site will be established in South Central Los Angeles with Watts Health Foundation and Kedren.

Item 3

Ms. Savage explained the purpose and goals of the Head Start/LADPEP linkage project and provided an update on the status of the objectives of the MOU. The designation of specific LADPEP project drug treatment and recovery programs for referrals made by LACOE's Head Start delegate agencies has been completed. Referrals have begun by LADPEP project to assist in Volunteers of America and Plaza De La Raza Head Start Agencies. LADPEP is providing orientation and training classes, and referring all identified children eligible for Head Start to specially assigned agencies near the drug treatment centers. LADPEP is planning meetings to develop a case review process for assessing all referrals made by the LACOE and developing specific treatment plans, which may include vocational services and/or providing resources for child care and transportation services. The process will be piloted before it is presented to the PAC. Referrals to LADPEP offering a variety of services appropriate to the needs of families i.e., relapse prevention, family counseling, aftercare services, ancillary services, resources for child care and transportation are in process but needs to be refined.

Mr. Rascon has been selected to represent the Los Angeles Drug Program Enhancement Project on the LACOE Health/Handicap Advisory Board and the LACOE Head Start Policy Council. A meeting is scheduled for April 9, 1992, to develop a training plan for staff and parents. A Policy and Procedures Manual and a comprehensive recruitment and referral process are being developed.

Referrals to Head Start for project participation or placement on a priority wait list will begin on April 1, 1992. On Wednesday there will be an introduction/orientation overview meeting to assess where the project is taking hold and generating interest.

Community Resource Center Activities - Jefferson Sa' of Behavior Health Services briefed the PAC on the status of the CRC. They have developed four committees; primary health care, child care, education and housing. The agenda is to define policy and identify resources. Meetings are held monthly.

Mr. Cordero of Joint Efforts is networking with the Landlords With a Heart to help provide reduced rates for low income housing, pay first and last months rent for people and assist Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) recipients with Section 8 housing. They are raising funds to help an 83 year old client who is six months behind on rent. All the CRC's are helping. New activities initiated include a bowling league comprised of clients and staff, a support group for homeless women, and an adult reading library which also has a childrens story telling feature.

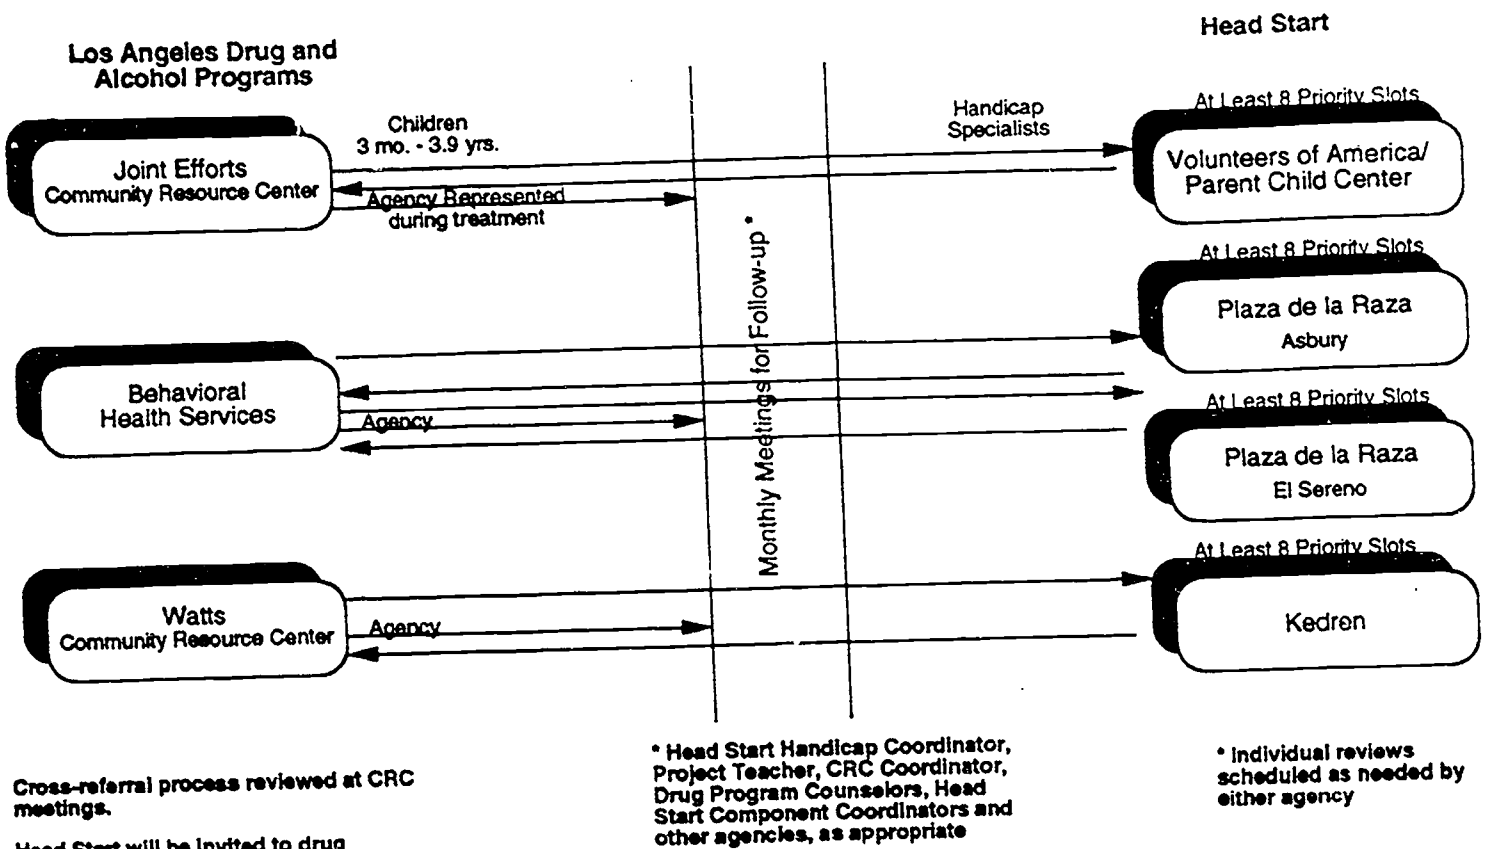

Carlos Fargas thanked Pauline Lopez, Social Services Coordinator for the County Alcohol and Drug Program Administration and Delores Brown from Vocational Rehabilitation for their assistance. Watts Health Foundation is coordinating with HIV counselors to establish linkages and developed resources. They are making many referrals to health centers and have increased referrals to Vocational Rehabilitation and DPSS.

Bettye Brown of West Area Opportunity Center reported on Project "BAD", Bowlers Against Drugs. Pauline Lopez and Santos Garcia are preparing inservice presentations. They have completed their parenting manual.

Mary Hernandez of El Proyecto del Barrio discussed Pauline Lopez's workshop on Public Assistance Assessment, which proved extremely beneficial to staff. Their CRC currently assesses clients for primary health care needs. They will also transport other area clients to their agency for primary health care services.

Children at the Volunteers of America (VOA) Head Start Parent-Child Center receive a lesson in table etiquette. Head Start encourages parents to take an active role in their young children's education.

Head Start's ART and STAR projects strengthen families

For LACOE, the children and parents of Head Start are the educational bottom line. Call it building the foundation of lifelong learning. In a nurturing environment that makes learning fun and exciting, children get a head start on education and hit the ground running in grade school. For that to happen, though, the children's parents must be involved.

A founding principle of Head Start is that parents are the most important influence on a child's development. But parental influence on a child, even before birth, can also be negative. Drug use by a pregnant mother and a drug-involved family life can seriously hinder a child's developmental and learning abilities.

The County Office addresses the problem of substance abuse on several levels, particularly among at-risk populations—one of the major goals of Bold Vision. The Division of Educational Support Services (ESS), for example, has several programs involving both elementary and secondary school students.

At the other end of the age-group spectrum is LACOE's Head Start program, operated by the Division of Program Development and Management, where two projects, called ART and STAR, are working on the problem of substance-affected families.

"One of every eight children born in this country since the mid-'80s is drug-affected, and that first generation of youngsters, many of whom have passed through Head Start, is now entering elementary schools," said Roberta Savage, the ART program coordinator, who also coordinates the Perinatal Substance-Exposed Children (PSEC) project for the Division of Alternative Education.

ART and STAR are mutually enhancing. Cooperatively, they set up networks between Head Start and substance-treatment providers (ART), while training Head Start staff to work with substance-affected children and their parents (STAR).

In Project ART (Assessment, Referral, and Training), preschool-age children whose parents are receiving substance-abuse treatment at county Alcohol and Drug Program agencies are enrolled in Head Start, while, conversely, Head Start staff members try to get drug-involved Head Start parents into treatment programs.

ART is also developing cooperative linkages with Head Start's federally funded Family Service Centers, which address illiteracy, substance abuse, and employability among Head Start families.

In Project STAR (Substance Abuse Training and Referral), coordinated by Beverley Morgan-Sandoz, Head Start teachers and support staff are trained to understand the symptoms of substance abuse and its effects on parenting abilities, the disabilities suffered by drug-influenced children, and strategies for working with these children and their parents.

Recently, at the Volunteers of America (VOA) Head Start Parent-Child Center in Harbor City, one of LACOE's delegate Head Start agencies, Savage and County Board of Education member Barbara G. Pieper co-chaired a discussion about ART and STAR with staff members from Head Start and regional social-service agencies.

Jaya Sastri, an ART Project teacher at the VOA center, stressed the importance of parent involvement.

"Intervention without training the parents is no good intervention at all," she said. "Otherwise, children would go home from Head Start, right back into a dysfunctional situation."

Savage noted that the strategies of working with drug-exposed children are similar to those that special-education teachers use in working with learning-disabled children.

"Drug-affected children may not necessarily be qualified for special education, as such, but they will respond to special-education techniques," said Savage.

Barbara Pieper, a former teacher, observed to the group at the meeting, "Going a few years back, I remember kids in my classroom who had behavioral and learning problems you just couldn't explain. All of you must have seen the same thing yourselves."

"That's right—that's why we have to educate the educators," said Sue Rados, director of the South Bay Community Resource Center.

"Teachers are finally beginning to see that maybe some of those so-called 'bad' kids might actually be suffering from a perinatal or present drug-exposure problem."

Later in the meeting, the subject of the ART and STAR programs' future came up. "We're committed to serving our families, funding or no funding," said Ray Hernandez, executive director of the VOA Head Start Parent-Child Center. "The programs and networks are now in place and operational. With all of us working together, they could continue to
